

The True Story of Boy Two Bears and the Fight to Be Free

Boy Two Bears was born into slavery in Missouri in 1828. His mother was a slave and his father was a white man. Boy Two Bears was sold away from his family when he was just 10 years old. He was sold to a slave trader who took him to New Orleans. In New Orleans, Boy Two Bears was sold to a sugar plantation owner. He worked on the plantation for 12 years in brutal conditions. He was whipped, beaten, and forced to work long hours in the hot sun. Despite the hardships he faced, Boy Two Bears never gave up hope. He dreamed of freedom and he knew that one day he would escape.

In 1852, Boy Two Bears finally escaped from the plantation. He traveled north through the Underground Railroad. The Underground Railroad was a network of secret routes and safe houses that helped slaves escape to freedom. Boy Two Bears traveled for months, hiding in forests and swamps. He was helped by many people along the way, including abolitionists and free Blacks. Finally, Boy Two Bears made it to Canada. He was free.
